GROUP MANAGEMENT

Programming activities are approximately 75 to 90 minutes long or half-day programs. The program will begin at the time of visit as indicated on the booking form. To receive the full benefit of the experience and ensure the Program stays on schedule, we ask that your group arrives on time. We are unable to delay or repeat the content of the program for participants that arrive late.

Educators and Group Leaders must take an active role in supervision and be entirely responsible for discipline of the group. In the case of school/youth groups, behavioral issues are to be responded to appropriately by chaperoning supervisors. If a situation arises which our staff deems as dangerous or disrespectful to other participants, general patrons or museum staff, the museum reserves the right to momentarily or permanently stop the activity or programming event.

It is the Booking Agent/Educator's responsibility to ensure that, prior to arrival, all group participants are made aware of the guidelines for their behavior during their visit to the facility. We greatly appreciate if your group could wear nametags to help our staff identify individual members, as our site will continue to be an open space for general patrons of the community. At the time of booking, please advise us of your arrival method, so we can best be prepared for your arrival or parking accommodations.
